

Competitiveness of Public Administration from perspective of Good Governance in the Czech Republic

Petr Hlínka

Abstract: This paper focuses on competitiveness of public administration in the Czech republic measured by GCI and WGI international competitiveness indexes, the best practices analysis according to the current consensus of Good governance theory. Author gives some suggestions for improvement in the Czech Republic.

Key words: competitiveness of public administration, GCI and WGI international competitiveness indexes, Good governance theory, suggestions for the Czech Republic public administration competitiveness improvement

JEL Classification: H11